

March, 2017

Hello All;

Hope everyone is well, I know a lot of people are fighting colds! Believe it or not 2017 is almost $\frac{1}{4}$ gone! Crazy winter, one for the record books. I guess I'll take it, didn't have to plow snow and only threw out a small amount of salt on the sidewalk, so I am not complaining.

On March 4th Bill Grubaugh hosted the Blanket Shoot, I was there for a short time before I had to leave for a wedding. It was a little bit cool with temperatures in the low 20's but 12 brave souls came out to join the fun. Bill had some tough targets for the first shoot of the year but it didn't faze Gary Bevard, he was the top shooter.

Our next shoot is on Saturday, April 1st, if you can show up a little bit early (9:00), we are supposed to repair the target racks. I think they are pretty well shot up, we'll need some posts and quite a few rails this year.

The hosts are Kevin Calderwood and Tom Darfus, it's a grocery shoot. Hope to see you then!

Please keep an eye on the Pheasants Forever event coming up, although they have not given me a date or flyer to send out!! As soon as I hear anything I will pass it on. Hoping for some volunteers again. Thanks!.

Sincerely

Mark Hazel
